This diversity of scenery makes Riviera Nayarit more than your average "fun in the sun" vacation spot, giving tourists a wide variety of activities to choose from. Not only will you find all of the usual beach activities such as jet skiing, parasailing, surfing, boogie boarding and sunbathing, there is also a wide variety of land and sea tours to enjoy. You may find yourself on a tropical jungle expedition learning about the flora and fauna indigenous to the area or zipping through the jungle on cables suspended hundreds of feet above the ground. There are tours to nearby towns where you can get a taste of Mexican culture, learn about the areas history, and the traditions that drive the daily lives of those who have lived there for generations. If the ocean and marine life is what you fancy, then Riviera Nayarit has more than it's share of activities to offer. There are many beautiful locations throughout the bay that are perfect for snorkeling and scuba diving. Fishing is a very popular activity in the bay and you can find a seemingly endless supply of charter boats to take deep sea fishing. The "Bahia de Banderas" is also a breeding ground for many creatures of the sea kingdom.

During winter and spring there are numerous whale watching tours where you will see humpback whales and dolphins that have migrated to the bay in order to reproduce. During the summer and fall months there are several programs aimed at protecting the endangered sea tortoises that use the shores of Riviera Nayarit as their nesting grounds.
